hospitality design across all sectors of the industry.

Ellis has said; 'I'm so proud to have won the Rising Star Award for 2022. Thank you so much to Gary and the team at Catering Design Group for nominating me. It feels great to be recognised for my hard work and to have the backing from CEDA is fantastic. I was thrown into the deep end with my first Project Management role as well as my Project Designer role, but the support I received from CDG made me confident I could deliver. Congratulations to all the award winners and to the Rising Star finalists!'

"I am extremely proud of Ellis's achievements over the past few years. She has diligently and professionally dealt with everything that has come her way. Especially given the challenges brought to us during the pandemic and post covid environment. It has been a real pleasure to see her confidence improve and witness our client's growing reliance on her skills and talent".
